O. K. ALLEN DIES SUDDENLY

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

If you are expecting this writer to denounce Alfred E. Smith because last Saturday he availed himself of the same privilege taken by Carter Glass and other noted Democrats to express open disagreement with the Roosevelt policies—if that is what you expect, you will be somewhat disappointed. For Smith's speech is important not as regards his own political career but as regards this changing nation of ours.

And Youngster Who "Blasted" the Slums Now Sits on the Throne

SURPRISING SPEECH

Milton Bronner's Closing Article Recalls a Dramatic Situation

This is the sixth and last of a series of stories on Britain's new king, Edward VIII, written by Milton Bronner, NEA Service correspondent, who has spent the last 15 years in Europe.

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—If it wasn't a royal prince, he sure would be a Socialist. He is always with the common people. When a British labor leader makes a remark like that following an address by the man who has just become Edward VIII, you may know that here is an unusual monarch. It is a good revelation of the increasing social consciousness of Edward in the years just before the beginning of his reign.

This phase of the former Prince of Wales' life has been noted with some apprehension among the die-hard Tory ranks of the empire. He began, perhaps, with the prince's interest in the British Legion and the problems of the ex-soldiers, which started to be critical in England immediately after the World war. But it broadened until on Christmas night, 1928, radio listeners in Britain were astonished to hear the prince's voice on their loud speakers, saying: "There are a quarter million moners, not only with no money now, but who for six months have had none. Everything is gone, and they have nothing left to sell. Because this distress is concentrated in special districts, do not let us take the line of least resistance and put out of mind what happens to one of sight."

He brings $2,000,000 to the fund for the miners. The prince urged contributions to a fund for the miners. "Do this tonight," he earnestly begged. "And I feel sure that for the remainder of the evening you will be animated more than you were before with the real spirit of Christmas."

In less than no time, $2,000,000 had poured in, and $100,000 of it came from admirers of the prince in still-prosperous America.

But the prince was still not satisfied with what he had done for the miners. He insisted on seeing for himself.

He knew a personal visit would draw England's eyes to the miners' plight. So in February, 1929, in some of the wildest winter weather of the year, for three days he toured 100

County Judge Says Sheriff Got $3,129 During Last Year

Stephens Itemizes Revenue of Sheriff Jim Bearden's Office

REPLY TO SHERIFF

Follows Bearden's Assertion Criminal Work Drew Only $43

Editor The Star: I read in yesterday's paper that Sheriff Bearden told you he got only $43 for criminal enforcement work last year. The fact is, he received $1,205.70. This item includes his fees in the municipal court, county courts, circuit courts, and justice courts. In order that the public may understand what the sheriff's office has earned, I give you the following figures: Collecting Taxes $4,280.00 Five months' jail expense 3,077.00 Court fees, circuit, county, justice, municipal 1,205.70 Carrying patients to state hospital 778.00 Fees in chancery court 165.60 Total $9,506.30 My understanding is that salaries paid out by the sheriff's office were as follows: W. A. Lewis $1,800.00 Ollie Robins, jail fee 3,077.00 Crit Stuart 1,500.00 $6,377.00 Cash to sheriff $3,129.30

And in addition to this, he has some claims against the county in the January adjourned term of circuit court for criminal work performed last year, on which he will receive pay next month.

As I understand it, he has possibly a couple hundred dollars earned last year in the chancery and circuit courts which he will receive this year. I give this information merely that the people might know just what the sheriff has received. I will further state that I, as your county judge, only received $1,225 last year, salary and expenses.

Final Plans for FDR Birthday Ball Being Made Here

Celebration to Be Held Thursday Night in High School Gym

TICKETS GO ON SALE

T. H. Crone Orchestra to Play—Negroes Also Plan Charity Ball

The 54th birthday anniversary of President Roosevelt will be celebrated here Thursday night with a dance at the high school gymnasium. The celebration here will be one of approximately 6,000 jubilee affairs to be Thursday night from coast-to-coast in the United States.

Part of the proceeds will go to a national benefit fund to fight infantile paralysis. The balance of the money will stay in Hempstead county and will be used for benefit of infantile paralysis victims.

Tickets Go On Sale

R. R. Morris, chairman of the ticket sales committee, reported Tuesday that two groups of workers would canvass the downtown section of Hope from now until Thursday in a drive to sell tickets.

The T. H. Crone orchestra, recently of Kansas City, has been obtained to play for the dance which is scheduled to start promptly at 9 p. m. The Crone orchestra played at one of the Hope Country club dances during the Christmas holidays. The music was well received.

All floor activities will be in charge of a committee composed of Hamilton Hanegan, chairman, R. R. Morris and Roy Stephenson.

The telegram committee will make a canvass of Hope the next three days. Congratulatory messages will be sent to the president.

Tickets for the charity ball are being sold at $1.50 per couple or $1 for gentleman and 75 cents for ladies unaccompanied. Tickets will also be on sale at the entrance of the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp, county chairman of the ball, said that the gymnasium would be gayly decorated in blue and silver, charity ball colors.

Negro Dance Planned

A negro dance in honor of the president's birthday is also planned here. The dance will be held at Yerger High School and will start 8 p. m. Thursday.

Music will be furnished by the Pike Wilson orchestra. Part of the proceeds will be used to help negro victims of infantile paralysis.

A varied program is planned featuring the presentation of a queen and the awarding of a cake to a lucky person.

Cazort Outlines Homestead Relief

Lieutenant Governor Publishes His Tax Exemption Amendment

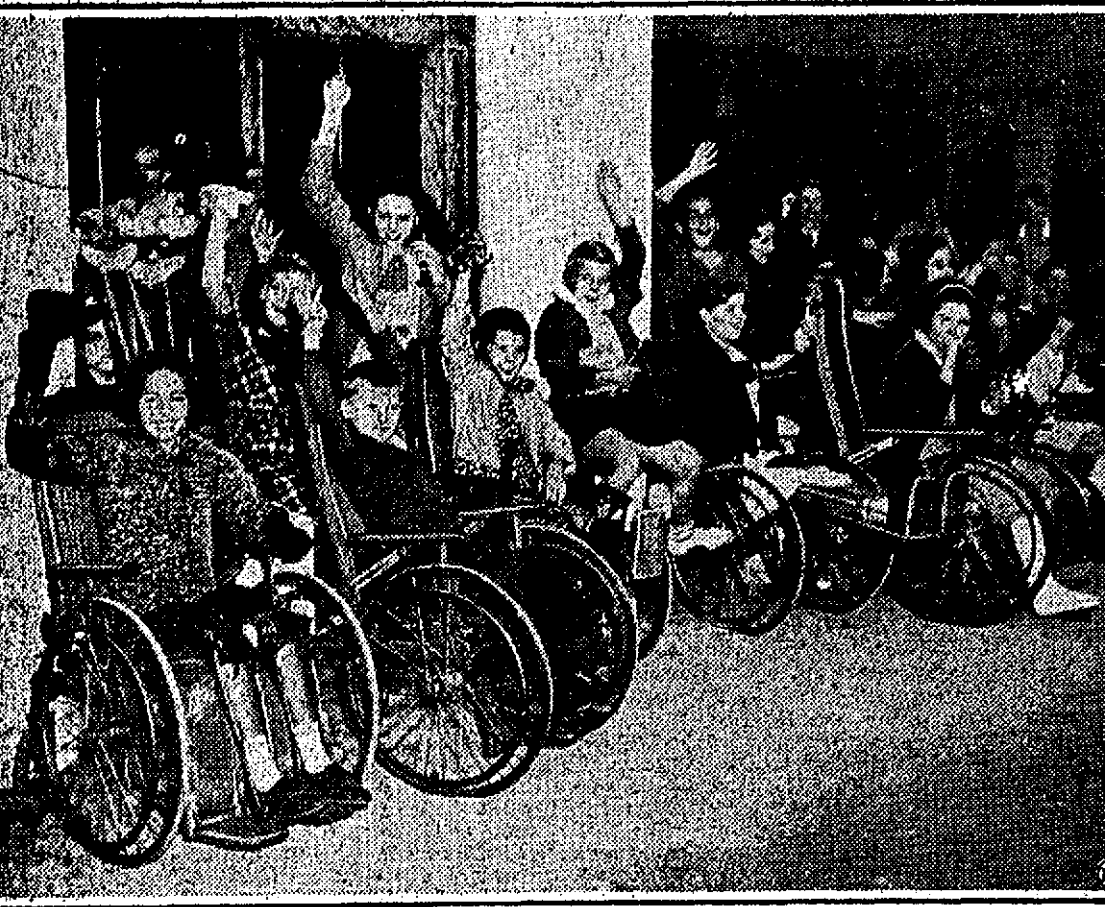

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Lieut. Gov. Lee Cazort Tuesday made public the text of the proposed constitutional amendment for exemption of homesteads from state taxation "up to $1,000 of assessed valuation" which he plans to have submitted in the 1936 general election through use of the initiative.

Petitions for placing the amendment on the November ballot will shortly be started in the various counties, the constitution requiring a showing of the signatures of 10 per cent of the legal voters of the state for submission at the election.

Drawn to authorize exemptions of $1,000, the amendment would empower the legislature to increase exemptions.

Cities Unite in Great Drive for Mercy Fund

It's a great event in the lives of the little patients at Warm Springs when President Roosevelt arrives for a visit. This is a typical scene of welcome for the president from the wheel chair brigade.

6,000 Towns Unite for F. D. Birthday

1936 Will Set New Record in Aiding the Fight Upon Paralysis

NEA Service Staff Correspondent.—Six thousand American towns and cities will join hands January 30 at birthday balls to celebrate the 54th anniversary of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with a fresh outpouring of funds for the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Thus for the third time since Roosevelt took office, his anniversary will be made the occasion for a nationwide drive against the ravages of infantile paralysis.

As the date draws near this year, reports from every state and from territorial possessions, indicate the celebration will surpass the two preceding ones.

Last year 5000 birthday balls were held. This year from 5500 to 6000 are definitely planned. Bermuda will hold its first ball this year, under auspices of Lady Cubitt, wife of the governor general, Sir Thomas Astley Cubitt.

There will be one also, for the first time, in the Virgin Islands; six in Alaska and three in Hawaii.

One Ball in a Trailer

And down in the Florida Everglades Charley Hartog, born in Holland and still a citizen of that country, will hold the country's smallest Roosevelt ball. He'll be host in his 6x18 automobile trailer.

Hartog will conduct his ball under the same rules that the rest of the country follows. These rules stipulate that 70 per cent of all proceeds are to be retained for local campaigns against the dread disease while the remaining 30 per cent will be sent to Warm Springs.

That plan was found satisfactory last year, as Warm Springs can accommodate only 100 patients and the 70 per cent of funds raised is needed more acutely in local communities.

The first nation-wide birthday ball in 1934 raised $1,071,000 and the 1935 celebration cleared $1,071,000.

"Despite this added financial ammunition to combat the scourge of paralysis," declares Col. Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the national committee on arrangements for these balls, "we have hardly made a start. Forty-seven hospitals, less than one for each state in the Union, are inundated by a new torrent of ailing humanity streaming through their doors from the onslaught of 1935, when this dread disease added approximately 10,000 victims to its rolls."

Doherty conservatively estimates that the national annual loss from infantile paralysis includes at least $300,000,000 in lost incomes, while $50,000,000 is needed each year for curative work alone.

As a signal contribution to the nation's fight to stamp out the disease, Doherty, who has known the president for many years, conceived the idea of the mammoth birthday party after Roosevelt took office.

Doherty Sponsored Plan

Doherty saw that the Warm Springs Foundation was the president's only outside interest and he determined to further it as being close to the chief executive's heart.

To realize what Warm Springs means to President Roosevelt, one must remember that 300,000 of the nation's cripples today can trace their

Low of 14 Here, Winter's Worst

Some Relief Promised From Cold, But Snow, Rain Are Forecast

A persistent cold wave dropped the mercury to a new seasonal low with a record of 14 degrees early Tuesday morning.

The recording was taken from the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment station thermometer.

The reading compared with 17 degrees, the previous low this winter, which was recorded Monday night.

Some relief from the intense cold is promised by the Weather Man Tuesday night, accompanied by rain or snow. The forecast for southwestern Arkansas is warmer, cloudy, rain or snow Tuesday night; and warmer with probable rain Wednesday.

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Weather prophets recorded the current cold wave as the most prolonged as well as the most severe of the century Monday night as the mercury prepared for another sub-zero dip.

Forecasters here estimated the heat deficiency for the six days of arctic temperatures at 27 degrees a day and saw no prospect of alleviation for a couple more days. They described the cold as the most persistent in 24 years, since 1912.

Additional deaths attributed to the weather numbered at least 15 during the day and brought the estimated total for the extreme cold to approximately 250.

District 10 Meet Is Due on April 18

If Nashville Track Is Unfinished Meet Will Go to Texarkana

NASHVILLE, Ark.—The District 10 track and field meet will be held in Nashville April 18, provided the track is completed by that time, it was announced Tuesday by E. T. Moody, secretary of the district association.

If the track is not completed by that time the meet will be held in Texarkana, Mr. Moody said.

Only a small part of the work on the track remains to be done, that principal hold-up now being the hauling of the cinders for the track. Two car loads of cinders are now here for the track, and have been unloaded on the right-of-way of the railroad, but there is no money available for hauling.

Only a little work remains to be done on the field house, and the completion of this and the track will give Nashville one of the best athletic fields in this part of the state.

British Increase

LONDON.—(AP)—That the population of Great Britain is increasing and both men and women are living longer, was revealed in the registrar-general's review for 1935 which has just been issued after experts had wrestled with statistics for two years.

The estimated population in the middle of 1935 was 40,350,000, of whom 19,357,000 were males and 20,993,000 females. The excess of births over deaths was 264,000.

Governor Allen was 55 years old. He became leader of the powerful political machine after Senator Long's violent death, and was nominated to succeed Long in the United States senate.

Ethiopians Routed by Italian Victory

Italians Report Finding Munitions in Red Cross Trunk

By the Associated Press

Fascist headquarters at Rome reported a new victory on the northern Italo-Ethiopian front and the capture of a Swedish hospital unit asserted to have been transporting munitions on the southern battle-line.

A communique from Marshal Badoglio, commander of the northern invading forces, said the Italians were victorious in a new four-hour engagement on the Eritrean front.

Five hospital trucks, marked with Red Cross flags, carrying 37 cases of munitions, were taken at Wadara, his report declared.

Ethiopians Routed

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(AP)—A strong advance by Italy's Southern army caused concern in Ethiopian official circles Monday night. The invading warriors of Ras Desta Remtu were reported completely disorganized and fleeing. Invaders had occupied the strategic provincial capital of Neghelli.

Two members of Swedish Red Cross units in the South reached here Sunday night. They said the Italians had seized their equipment, but denied rumors that Swedes had been taken prisoners.

Question

The ghost of you is in this room.
Your cushioned imprint stays any chair in which you sat.
The laughter of you lingers.

A spell across the quiet hearth.
At times I've thought I heard
Your voice, low-toned and gentle,
Speak out in cherished word.

Oh, why with all the world to roam,
And all the world is wide,
Must you come back to me, dear one,
To ask a place to hide?

England Recalls

towns and villages of Durham and Northumberland. Sometimes he went by auto, sometimes he trudged through slush and snow.

He went everywhere, saw everything. He stopped in humble homes, had a cup of tea and a chat with miners and their wives. What he saw in those dirty, barren hovels was enough. Indignant Prince Uses Lurid Language

At one point his indignation burst its bounds. "I call this sort of thing a ——— shame!" he cried to the accompanying newspapermen. "And you can say that I said so!" But none of them did, hesitating to attribute to the prince in print the lurid adjectives that had leaped hotly to his lips.

As one of the great London landlords, the prince found that some of the properties that had come down to him were miserable tenements, little better than stables. He had them torn down and their built model flat buildings in their place, where workmen could get decent homes at reasonable rents.

He began to take a deeper personal interest, as Duke of Cornwall, in the management of his vast properties. Today these include great properties in London and extensive farms and mines near Plymouth, Cornwall. Their conduct is a vast industrial enterprise grossing $1,000,000 a year and netting the prince some $350,000 in annual personal income.

Business men and financiers of London's "City" have noted in recent years the rise of the prince as an active proprietor and manager, acting, of course, through his agents.

Prince Sends Check to Aid Strike Fund

In 1932 the prince again made a tour of the distressed coal areas along the Tyne. He slipped away from his party, and with a single companion went in to the homes of the most wretched of the unemployed of the area.

Then some remembered that during the coal strike of 1926 the prince's controller had sent a check to the Somerset Miners' Distress Fund.

"His Royal Highness necessarily cannot take sides in any dispute," said a note accompanying the check, "but we all owe a debt to the miners in the past, and everyone must feel sympathy for the wives and children in these hours of distress."

"Besides, it would not be a satisfactory end to any dispute that one side should be forced to give in on account of suffering of its dependents."

The spectacle of a king contributing to a strike fund is a rare one, indeed.

His interest in housing continued, and in 1933 the prince was asked to address the Association of Municipal Corporations at the Guildhall. The well-fed dined were relaxing in their chairs, expecting to hear again the old platitudes.

But they leaned forward in astonishment when the prince launched in to a terrific tirade against the slums. He concluded in this vigorous fashion: "Let us build a new Britain! Let our age be remembered as one in which we swept away this blot that disgraces our national life! Let us provide houses worthy of the dignity and greatness of our race!"

New King Has Close Contacts in America

Many Tories were shocked in England by the vigor of the prince's recent proposal that German war veterans be brought to England and their visit be returned as a gesture of goodwill and evidence that wartime hardships had been forgotten.

One interesting thing about the new king is his unusually close personal contacts with the United States. In addition to his trips to this country, he has met and talked to at least three presidents, Wilson, Coolidge, and F. D. Roosevelt, the latter when he was assistant secretary of the navy.

Many Americans in London are the prince's friends, and he is fond of many American things, notably jazz music.

Already the strong will of the new king has begun to manifest itself in the shattering of small unimportant traditions. It is likely that there will be more of this.

As prince, Edward had been heard by many friends to remark from time to time, "Things will be different when I am king."

It seems likely. His recent acts and speeches point to new meaning behind the motto he has borne since 1911 as Prince of Wales, "Ich Dien," or "I Serve."

Virtually Same Bobsled Teams to Race for U. S. in Olympiad

Fiske and Stevens Will Again Pilot Speedsters on Icy Turns of German Olympic Bobsled Course

This is the second of four stories on the Olympic Winter Games. By NEA Service

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany.—Practically the same teams that swept to victory in both the four and two-man bobsled events in the 1932 Olympic Winter Games at Lake Placid, N. Y., will be bob-bobbing along down the icy stretches of the Garmisch run here from Feb. 6 to 16.

Billy Fiske, the Californian who piloted the quartet to its triumph, and J. Hubert Stevens, driver of the two-seater, again will be seen in action. Behind Fiske probably will be two of his three 1932 mates—Eddie Egan, former intercollegiate light-heavyweight boxing champion when he was at Yale, and Cliff Gray, who also rode with Fiske on the winning sled in 1932. The fourth man, Jay O'Brien, is not on this year's squad.

Stevens will not have his brother Curtis, behind him this year, as the latter half of the winning combination did not make the trip. However, Hubert has an accomplished alternate in John J. Shene, of Lake Placid, who is a member of his team.

The best bobsbers in the United States have accompanied the team here for the thrilling and dangerous descent, a 5240-foot run with 10 curves.

Swiss Ace Daring

In addition to those already mentioned, there are Francis W. Tyler, driver of the second four-man sled in the final Olympic tryouts; Donna Fox, driver of the winning four-man sled in the final Olympic tryouts; Richard W. Shene, of Lake Placid, Syracuse wrestler and oarsman, member of Fox's team; Max T. Bly, rider on the 1934 North American two and four-man winners; Crawford C. Merkel, brakeman for Ray and Curtis Stevens; Jim Bickford, member of the 1934 North American four-man championship team; Ed Varno, member of the 1935 four-man winner; Gilbert Colgate, driver of the runner-up two-man sled in the North American, national, and Olympic tryouts; Ivan Brown, driver of the winning two-man sled in the final Olympic tryouts; Alvin Washburn, brakeman for Brown in Olympic tryouts; and Robert Martin, brakeman on two and four-man sleds, and member of the Curtis Stevens team.

Unlike the U. S. speed and figure skating teams, the American bobsquads are favorites, despite the fact that they are to compete on a run that is foreign to them. The Swiss, Rumanian, French, German, and other teams have been practicing on the course for some time.

As in 1932, most of the U. S. competition will be furnished by Swiss, German, and Rumanian teams.

The Swiss have a young two-man driver in Reto Capadrutti, who, in 1932, when he was only 19, thrilled crowds with his daring at Lake Placid, and failed by only one and a half seconds to beat Hubert Stevens in that event. Hans Kilian, of Germany, and Lieutnant Papaua, of Rumania, always are dangerous in four-man competition.

The course here is lightning fast. It was constructed by S. M. Zentzky, the engineer who designed the Lake Placid Olympic run on Mount Van Houten.

It has turns equally as dangerous as Eyrle, Whiteface, and Zig and Zag on the American course, and sleds have been clocked at nearly 50 miles an hour down its length.

The sharper curves of the run are paved with cakes of ice, and the sleds are highly banked so that the driver may keep control on the straight stretches. The loops are not built in the usual oval shape, but more after the manner of railway curves. This eliminates the sudden intense centrifugal force, and the driver retains control of his sleigh more easily.

Bobsbers Race Time

At the start, the sleds come into the Kilian loop, and then, with scarcely a slackening in speed, run into a series of curves at the Labyrinth. Here the bobs generally are hitting more than 47 miles an hour, and strike in succession an "S" curve, the Ritter von Halt curve, and the Kreuzeeck loop.

The final test for the driver is the hairpin Bavaria curve, next to which the stands have been constructed. When this tricky bend has been negotiated, the racers all sweep into the straight stretch past two minor turns at the finish line and slow up.

The races are run in four heats, total elapsed time on the four descents counting in determining the winner.

NEXT: Skating.

Earle Rudolph, of Arkadelphia, Dies

Heart Attack Fatal to Prominent Hardware Store Proprietor

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — Earle Rudolph, widely known Arkadelphia business man, died suddenly at his home here early Tuesday morning, supposedly from a heart attack.

Mr. Rudolph, vice president of Arkadelphia Chamber of Commerce, had attended a meeting of the board of directors of that organization and returned home about midnight. He entered the bath room and when he had not emerged after several minutes Mrs. Rudolph became alarmed and investigated. She found her husband on the floor and he was dead when a physician arrived.

For more than 30 years Mr. Rudolph, who was about 53, had operated the Arkadelphia Hardware Company with his brother, T. T. Rudolph.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alex Vaughn, who died at her home here Monday afternoon, will be conducted from the residence Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Vaughn is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Max Bryant of Prescott, Mrs. David Thompson of Hope, and Mrs. John V. Tedford of Little Rock; and two sisters, Mrs. C.A. Berk, of Texarkana and Mrs. Frank P. Bostick of Prescott.

Mrs. Vaughn was a member of one of the pioneer families of Bowie county, Texas, and was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Busick who lived in Old Boston.

Charges Threaten Townsend Leaders

Congress Discusses Prosecution Under Corrupt Practices Act

WASHINGTON. — Plans to invoke the corrupt practices act with its heavy fines and jail sentences, against the leaders of the Townsend old age pension movement, are being discussed in congress, it was learned Tuesday.

The charges would be based on the failure of the movement to file with the clerk of the house an accounting of receipts and expenditures for the past year as all organizations attempting to influence federal elections in two or more states must under the terms of that act.

It was made clear, however, that there is no present intention to press for criminal action, although it is contended that the Townsend leaders, who have claimed the credit for the success of candidates in numerous federal elections, now are subject to the penalties of the act.

Instead, the plan is to take the floor of the house and call the attention of the heads of the Townsend movement to their alleged derelictions. In this way, it is hoped, the Townsends will be induced to file their accounting and the inner activities of the group will be revealed.

The attack on the floor will be made with the implied threat of a complaint to the Department of Justice should the Townsends fail to comply with the law.

Prescott News in Brief

By DALE McKINNEY

An Albino quail, killed near Bodcaw several weeks ago by Game Warden Earl Barham, has been mounted and is now on display at Hesterley Drug Store.

The bird is almost solid white, except for a few light brown feathers. It is about the same size of the average quail, resembling it in every respect except the color.

Some of the oldest bird hunters in this section have seen the bird and say that it is the first one they have seen or heard of.

The bird was mounted by Horace Whitten of Gurdon for Mr. Barham, who will present it to the state office of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alex Vaughn, who died at her home here Monday afternoon, will be conducted from the residence Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Vaughn is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Max Bryant of Prescott, Mrs. David Thompson of Hope, and Mrs. John V. Tedford of Little Rock; and two sisters, Mrs. C.A. Berk, of Texarkana and Mrs. Frank P. Bostick of Prescott.

affliction to infantile paralysis. The president was stricken in 1921. Simultaneously began his long struggle to conquer the effects of the disease. Behind his struggle is the story of Warm Springs.

Warm Springs, with its constant flow of tepid, crystal-clear water, had been a resort for a long time when Roosevelt first turned to it in 1924. Slowly he began to show improvement as he literally swam his way back to health.

Treatment at the springs, which always are at 89 degrees temperature, is based on the principle that a body weighs as much less in water as the Harvard Synard of Battle Field called to see Miss Wilma Gentry Wednesday night.

Mrs. Vergie Dudeney called a while with Mrs. Ethel Cornelius Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Alice Finley and Mrs. Pearl Cornelius made a business trip to Hope Saturday.

Headaches in 30 minutes

Before a miserable cold gets you down, go to bed and use Vicks VapoRub. Two generations have proved VapoRub the surest help to a milder, shorter cold.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster.

2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—helps break congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

For Fever and Shorter Colds. Note for your family: Vicks has developed, especially for home use, a practical Plan for Better Control of Colds. This commonsense guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan come in each VapoRub package.
